

Los Angeles Area Instructors

Enroll today to ensure your instructor's section availability!

Timothy Brown, M.S. Special Education, started his career teaching math in a Los Angeles middle school in the late nineties. He soon transferred to a local elementary school and has since been teaching in a special education classroom. Timothy also scuba dives as a volunteer once a week at the Aquarium of the Pacific. He has a passion for teaching, traveling and scuba diving, and has recently published a children's book. Timothy brings with him a vast array of experience inside and outside the classroom and looks forward to sharing them. USD Coordinator for West Los Angeles and Downey areas.

Scott Cody is an Instructional Support Specialist and Educational Consultant in Los Angeles, CA. Dr. Cody received his doctorate in Educational Leadership at the University of Pennsylvania, writing about the leadership aspects at the intersection of health, communities, and schools. In particular, he investigated how school leaders organize neighborhood schools to act as a hub providing social services, especially in mental health, for students and community members. Prior to arriving at Penn, Dr. Cody received his Ed.M. at Harvard University, consulted as an instructional coach for Los Angeles Education Partnership, and taught middle school. USD Coordinator for Pasadena and Burbank areas.

Jennifer Krauss, M.A. School Administration and Educational Policy, is a Common Core Facilitator in English Language Arts. She has previously worked as an elementary literacy coach, intervention coordinator, and a teacher. Through her work, Jennifer has developed a passion for helping struggling learners gain the skills necessary to become college and career ready as 21st century learners. USD Coordinator for Sherman Oaks and Santa Clarita areas.

Victoria Montes, M.A.T Secondary Education, is the College Advisor at Francisco Bravo Medical Magnet HS in LAUSD. She has 21 years of experience in education having been an English Teacher, Instructional Coach, Dept. Chair, and College Advisor. She is also a coordinator and instructor in the USD Professional and Continuing Education Division at the Monterey Park location for Los Angeles based Classroom Courses. USD Coordinator for Monterey Park area.

Craig Yokoi, M.A. Education, currently serves as a Science Specialist for the Los Angeles Unified School District. His education includes a Bachelors degree from UCLA, a Multiple Subjects Credential from CSU Dominguez Hills, and a Masters in Education and an Administrative Credential from National University. During his 17 years as an educator Craig has served in many roles that include Magnet Coordinator, K-12 Science Advisor, and has developed and coordinated summer institutes for GEAR UP (Gaining Early Awareness and Readiness in Undergraduate Programs). He has presented at various national science conventions and has an article published in NSTA's Science and Children. In addition, he has been working on developing science and engineering institutes for elementary teachers with UCLA Center X. Craig is dedicated to bringing quality science instructions to all students. USD Coordinator for Carson and Downtown areas.